

Broad Perspectives: A Philadelphia Jewish Speakers Series

The foundation of this Philanthropic Year

What is “Broad Perspectives?”

"Broad Perspectives" is a new Philadelphia Jewish speakers series, in partnership with the Feinstein Center for American Jewish History at Temple University. For this programmatic year, we will host multiple conversations at RS with intellectuals, writers, experts, and activists, as well as cultural programs. With this series, our leg of Broad Street will be known for meaningful ideas and “Broad Perspectives” that inspire our spiritual life paths. We welcome these speakers to RS to share their wisdom and stories of their journeys:

Thursday, November 2 at 7:00 p.m. (Patron reception at 6:00 p.m.)

White Supremacy and Antisemitism with Talia Lavin, Freelance Journalist and Author of *Culture Warlords: My Journey into the Dark Web of White Supremacy

Wednesday, February 21 at 7:00 p.m. (Patron reception at 6:00 p.m.)
